Concentration in Health Innovation

The concentration in health innovation is a collaborative effort between the Center for the Study of Human Health (CSHH) BA Program in Human Health in Emory College and the Goizueta Business School BBA Program. This concentration provides knowledge, competencies and experiences for BA and BBA students interested in pursuing careers in a wide array of fields related to the business of health with a focus on innovation.

The concentration in health innovation is open by application to Business School and Emory College students majoring in human health. During the junior and senior year, in addition to pursuing their own majors, students admitted to the concentration complete two core courses in the non-major program, two electives from a list of relevant choices, and one senior capstone. Additional seminars, industry speakers, internships and field projects augment the resources available to concentration students.

TO THE RECOMMENDER

The Concentration in Human Health is a collaboration between the Center for the Study of Human Health in Emory College and the Goizueta Business School BBA Program. Participation is limited to BBA students and students who are human health majors.

This concentration provides knowledge, competencies and experiences for BA and BBA students interested in pursuing careers in a wide array of fields related to the business of health with a focus on innovation. BBA students who complete this concentration will gain an understanding of the cutting edge science of health with a focus on Emory areas of strength, including innovations in personalized medicine and health, applications and translations involved in global health, the science of nutrition and current challenges in changing dynamics within the medical system and health policy. Human health students who complete this concentration will acquire grounding in the basic principles of business including management, marketing and operations and will develop foundational business practices that will help them be better stewards of limited financial, human, and organizational resources.

Recommendations are used for selection purposes only and do not become part of any record file upon a student's inclusion in the program. Therefore, recommendations are not subject to the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974.

After completing this form, please sign it and place it in an envelope. Seal the envelope, sign it across the flap, and then return it to the applicant who will submit the sealed envelope along with his/her application. Please type or print neatly.
